 SCDO Launches Sidechain on HyperPay Wallet **

We are pleased to announce that SCDO Blockchain has successfully launched its sidechain on HyperPay Wallet, marking a significant milestone in the expansion of our decentralized ecosystem.

Historically, SCDO lacked wallet support for the display and management of sidechain tokens. With this latest integration, SCDO has now addressed a critical component in its ecosystem. Sidechain tokens on SCDO operate similarly to Ethereum's ERC-20 tokens, providing the infrastructure necessary for developers to build decentralized, innovative applications without the need for centralized control.

The introduction of SCDO's sidechain protocol allows for seamless scalability, enabling the development of diverse applications and services on multiple sidechains. This flexibility further strengthens SCDO's commitment to fostering a decentralized future, empowering developers with the tools they need to build advanced, decentralized solutions.

We are confident that this development will enhance the overall user experience and provide additional opportunities for growth within the SCDO ecosystem.

For further information or to explore our sidechain integration, please visit HyperPay Wallet and begin your journey with SCDO Blockchain today.

Best regards,

SCDO Team
